A mechanistic study of the catalytic activity of uridine and its 5'-monophosphate. We investigated the catalytic activity of uridine and its 5'-monophosphate in the formation of uracil and uracil 5'-monophosphate (UMP) from 4-amino-2-oxazoline. Our results show that the chemical decomposition of uridine, protonation of the base as well as the addition of 5'-deoxyribose and  $Mg^{2+}$  to the nucleotide are essential reaction steps in the conversion of nucleoside into nucleotide. The pKa values of uridine and 5'-deoxyribose and the pH values of the reaction mixtures were determined. A mechanism for the reaction catalyzed by uridine diphosphate synthetase is proposed that involves an association of 5'-deoxyribose with uridine phosphate and the subsequent deprotonation of the base. German opposition leader Martin Schulz has criticised a shift in the EU's energy policy in favour of emerging powers such as Russia and Turkey that he says threatens the EU's security. Schulz was one of the biggest winners of the European elections after a campaign that had prominent competition from Marine Le Pen's far-right National Front party. Voters also showed strong support for the more pro-EU liberal party Alternative for Germany (AfD), which is holding exploratory talks about a future partnership with France's increasingly protectionist President Emmanuel Macron. Speaking in Brussels on Friday, Schulz, a former president of the European Parliament, said the EU needed its own energy policy because there was only so much room on the planet for Europe to expand. "Today the European Union no longer really needs fossil fuels. There will be space on this planet to preserve nature, to preserve forests, to preserve mountains, and it's on these things that one really secures the future of this planet," Schulz told a packed press conference at the European Union's headquarters. "We must secure the future of this planet for future generations and therefore we need to look at a different future for the energy future," he added.
